University Gets Vacant Property Of Ex-Students

Old Home of Association Given for Credit Of Union

Members Increase

Present Status of Union Project Checked By Executive Group

Final disposition of property of the Ex-Students' Association at 2300 San Antonio Street was completed at the meeting of the executive committee of the Ex-Students' Association Saturday afternoon at their headquarters in Texas Union, John McCurdy, secretary of the association, said Tuesday.

The property was formerly the home of Leslie Waggener, first president of the University, and was bought from the Waggener estate by the Ex-Students' Association in 1924. When the association headquarters were moved to Texas Union, it was voted to turn the property over to the University, its value to be applied as a credit on the organization's part of the Union project. The disposition was completed at the meeting Saturday.

Reports from Hines H. Baker, first vice president of the Houston branch of the association, and Dr. Ghent Graves, member of the Houston council, made before the executive committee, indicated that the expansion program being carried on over Texas by the Ex-Students' Association is meeting with success. The program aims to revive interest, spread information, and build up membership among University ex-students.

A check was made on the present status of the Union project at the meeting. Unpaid pledges of the project and methods of collecting these pledges were discussed.

Sigma Delta Pi Initiates Five

Spanish Honor Fraternity Picks New Members

Sigma Delta Pi, honorary Spanish fraternity, held initiation for five members Monday night at the Faculty Women's Club. Those initiated were Robert Brinsmade, Rex Hopper, Jack Jamison, Fiona Margaret McNabb, and Lucile Williams.

Following the initiation, Miss Edith Johnston presented Margarita Jones and Frank Monk in a group of dramatic songs in costume. Miss Jones sang "La Palomita," and "Marie Elena," and Monk sang with her, "Soi de Chapas." Refreshments were served to the members present.

The next meeting will be December 21, and will be in the form of a Mexican supper and pinata, which is a Mexican Christmas celebration.

Juan Haggard Villasana is president of the organization, and Miss Lillian Wester, instructor in Romance languages, is sponsor.

All employees of the University whose salaries are due for November will be paid today from 9 until 1 o'clock and from 2 until 4 o'clock, C. H. Sparenberg, auditor, announced yesterday.

Fellowship and scholarship holders will receive their monthly stipend at the same time.

The Auditor requests that all employees call for their vouchers today because the office will not be open during the Thanksgiving holidays.

O'Brien Extends Deadline to Name Beauty Nominees

After December 8, Editor To Begin Arranging For Photos

Because many organizations have not had an opportunity to nominate candidates for the beauty section of the 1934 Cactus, the editor, Chilton O'Brien, has moved the last day for nominations up to December 8.

All organizations must make their nominations by that time.

Beauty candidates nominated Tuesday were Frances Groseclose and Ruth Hamilton by the Chi Omega sorority; Marie Vela by the Latin-American Club; Marshall Elmore and Inda Drushel by Butler's boarding house; Susan Sanford and Frances Eastland by Lambda Delta; Evelyn Wortsman by Alpha Epsilon Phi; Adilese Haag and Frances Jennings by Alpha Delta Pi; Yvonne Beckner and Loraine Bird by Phi Mu; and Ida May Hall, Jacqueline Hallman, Dorothy Householder, Marilee Kone, Dorothy Impson, and Julia Phenix by the Wesley Foundation.

As soon as beauty nominations have closed, appointments will be made for the photographing of the candidates, O'Brien announced Tuesday.

Riach Speaks About Thanksgiving Spirit

"The real spirit of Thanksgiving is the distribution of our gifts, our talents, and our services for the welfare of the common good." Thus the Rev. John M. Riach, chaplain of the Newman Club, defined the meaning of the annual festival in a talk before the members of the Kiwanis Club at their Thanksgiving luncheon Monday.

Father Riach, who spent five years in the British navy during the World War, spoke of the attitude of America toward the rest of the world, and their true feeling in regard to Thanksgiving. "America has been called the land of the almighty dollar and the home of the get-rich-quick Wallingfords, but America is the only nation in the world which has set aside one day to return thanks to the Almighty God for the blessings its people have received during the year."

To portray the interesting phases of this development, 65 Austin school children from Palm School, Woolridge School, Fullmore School will present a pageant, "The Story of Writing," as one of the educational entertainments of the Texas State Teachers Convention. Beginning with a scene from the time of the cave man, the pageant will portray through a series of scenes the advancement of writing in the period of Babylonia and Assyria, the invention of the alphabet, Indian sand painting, early American forms of writing, and the age of the typewriter and the printing press.

Miss Juanita Simpson, auditorium teacher in the University High School, is directing the pageant, and is being assisted by several other teachers in the Austin schools. The pageant will be presented in the auditorium of the University High School Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

Dr. Griffith explained the plan was that a member agrees to buy a magazine for the use of the club, and after a certain length of time he takes it for his own. At present the club subscribes to about fifty British and American periodicals.

Club Holds Annual Magazine Auction

The University Club held its annual magazine auction Saturday night, November 25, Dr. R. H. Griffith, secretary of the club, announced, saying there was a good attendance of members, and described the bidding for the ownership of the next year's magazines as spirited.

Dr. Griffith explained the plan was that a member agrees to buy a magazine for the use of the club, and after a certain length of time he takes it for his own. At present the club subscribes to about fifty British and American periodicals.

The auctioneers Saturday night were Max Fichtenbaum, assistant registrar, Charles A. Smith, associate professor of accounting, and Ray Lee of the Austin American. "The session was one of the most successful of its kind the club has held," Dr. Griffith declared.

LUNCHEON TO HONOR TEAM

Players of the University football team will be guests at the Kiwanis luncheon December 11, Frank L. Jewett, secretary of the club, announced. Arrangements for the luncheon and the entertainment will be made by Louis Slaughter, Robert Payne, and Hubert B. Jones. Mr. Payne is a former president of the Students' Association, and Mr. Jones was head yell leader for several years.

Students Design Coins for Texas Centennial Sale

Proceeds Will Construct Memorial Museum In Austin

Will Cost $750,000

Government Officials To Approve Design Made By Architects

The idea for the design on the 1,500,000 half dollars which will be sold during the Texas Centennial in 1936 will be furnished by students in the department of architecture of The University of Texas, according to a report from Garland Adair, who is chairman to a special centennial committee which has been organized by the Texas chapter of the American Legion. These half dollars will be sold for $1 each and will be used to build a $750,000 Memorial Museum in Austin on a site suggested by the Board of Regents of the University.

Already the architecture classes have had a competitive contest of individual ideas out of which four designs were chosen. One final design will be submitted to the sculptor committee consisting of Senator Tom Connally, Representatives Wright Patman, W. D. McFarlane, and Marvin Jones, all of whom are Legionnaires, and who represent their respective districts on the Texas Centennial Committee. This committee will in turn submit the design to the United States government authorities who will give it to their official sculptors for the actual making of the coins.

Austin Schools To Give Pageant

Drama Shows Evolution Of Writing

Thousands of years ago long-armed cave men drew symbols in the sand with sticks and made scratches on the walls of their cave habitations in an effort to give expression to their thoughts. The invention of the typewriter and the widespread use of shorthand has greatly facilitated the efforts of men to express in words their ideas and thoughts. Between the meager beginnings of the early cave man and the stage of development to which writing has now attained, lies the history of writing.

To portray the interesting phases of this development, 65 Austin school children from Palm School, Woolridge School, Fullmore School will present a pageant, "The Story of Writing," as one of the educational entertainments of the Texas State Teachers Convention. Beginning with a scene from the time of the cave man, the pageant will portray through a series of scenes the advancement of writing in the period of Babylonia and Assyria, the invention of the alphabet, Indian sand painting, early American forms of writing, and the age of the typewriter and the printing press.

Miss Juanita Simpson, auditorium teacher in the University High School, is directing the pageant, and is being assisted by several other teachers in the Austin schools. The pageant will be presented in the auditorium of the University High School Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

Dr. Griffith explained the plan was that a member agrees to buy a magazine for the use of the club, and after a certain length of time he takes it for his own. At present the club subscribes to about fifty British and American periodicals.

Breakfast Planned Friday for Reunion

The ex-students of the West Texas State Teachers' College will have a reunion breakfast Friday, December 1, at 8 o'clock at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel, J. Evetts Haley, collector in the Bureau of Research in Social Sciences, who will be in charge, said Tuesday. All former students desiring to attend the reunion are asked to get in touch with Mr. Haley for reservations.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Mody Boatright, instructor in English.

2,000 EXES EXPECTED

Out of the 6,000 teachers expected to attend the Texas State Teachers Convention, starting Thanksgiving Day, approximately two thousand will be ex-students of The University of Texas, John McCurdy, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' Association, said Tuesday. This check-up was made through the presidents and principals of the schools throughout the State.

Unguarded Diamond Fortune Composed Only of Replicas

Students passing exhibit cases on the third floor of the Geology Building stand aghast when they see a collection of diamonds worth over three and a half million dollars displayed behind a fragile sheet of glass. As soon as their pulse slows down, however, they may discover that the stones exhibited are not the actual gems, but exact replicas in glass.

Represented in the fifteen exhibits are half a dozen stones worth nearly $500,000, and none has a value of less than $100,000. Some of the more famous stones represented are the Regent diamond, one of the state jewels of France which was bought by the Regent of France, the Duke of Orleans; and the Kohinoor diamond which was acquired by England in 1849 when the British annexed Punjab.

Other exhibitions on the third floor include a selection of various crystal forms of common gems and several cases of metamorphic and sedimentary rocks.

The development of the horse is illustrated by casts and bones displayed on the ground floor of the building. Specimens of hooves representative of the animal as he lived in the Miocene, the Pliocene, the Oligocene, and the Eocene ages are displayed. Other collections exhibited are elephant teeth and bones, various minerals, fossil fish, and some rock froth—the foam on a stream of lava.

Nowotny Predicts Sufficient Rooms For Week's Guests

Assistant Dean Asks Aid Of Students in Caring For Teachers

"We will get enough rooms for the teachers if we have to open up the fraternity houses," was Dean Arno Nowotny's emphatic way of saying Tuesday that rooms will be available for visiting teachers during the State Teachers' Convention in Austin from November 30 to December 2.

"We do not want anybody to stay away because of fear of not having a room," Dean Nowotny added. "We have enough rooms now to last through Wednesday but we will be in need of more."

The Dean asks the students to vacate their rooms temporarily for the three days of the convention and to help in every way possible to have the 6,000 visiting teachers comfortably located while here.

Dean Nowotny asks further assistance of the students, house-mothers, dormitories, sororities, fraternities, and the Austin residents in securing as many additional rooms as possible. The Austin Chamber of Commerce is cooperating by securing lodging in homes outside the University vicinity.

"The hotels have been reserved for several days. Many of the teachers are staying at home because they can't get hotel rooms and are afraid of not having a place to stay. We want them to know that rooms will be provided," Dean Nowotny said.

Teachers to Hear Columbia Professor

"Problems in Inter-School Athletics" will be the subject on which Dr. Frederic Maroney, professor in Teachers' College at Columbia University, will address the fifteenth annual meeting of Inter-scholastic League executives, to be held Friday morning at 7:30 o'clock on the roof garden of the Stephen F. Austin Hotel. Dr. Maroney will be introduced by Floyd G. Betts, superintendent of schools at Wharton.

T. H. Shelby, dean of the Division of Extension, will preside over the meeting, for which B. M. Dinsmore, superintendent of schools at Electra, will act as secretary. Breakfast will be served before the meeting.

DEAN BROGAN HONORED

Dean A. P. Brogan, professor of philosophy and assistant dean of the Graduate School, was recently nominated for membership in the National Council of Teachers of English at a meeting of the American Association of University Professors held at Philadelphia.

Botanical Displays Shown Teachers in New Hothouse

A series of greenhouses, the first of which is to be opened for the convention of Texas teachers, will prove to be one of the most interesting spots on the campus is the opinion of Dr. G. W. Goldsmith, professor of botany.

In the first unit there will be only small displays from the departments of zoology and botany and from the College of Pharmacy. At present only palms are growing there, but the three departments are working to get it in cultivation as soon as possible. Dr. Goldsmith stated that after the other three units are opened it will be an improvement to the University.

There is one portion of the greenhouse in which tropical

Freshmen Need Help to Ascend Library Stairs

The veneer of sophistication of the 1933 freshman, which enables him to pass for an upper classman on most of the campus, is of no avail when he reaches the stairway of the Library. His feet will not cover this rough, unfamiliar ground without some assistance from his eyes. His inexperience with the worn steps either cause him to lose his balance or to walk near the railing with one hand clutching this momentary safeguard.

The Library has been used since 1910, and the warped, worn steps bear testimony of the thousands of students who have climbed them in search of knowledge, companionship, or a passing flirtation. Each of the 26 steps is worn more on the inner side of the curve than on the outside—the inevitable result of each generation of students trying to reach their destination by exerting the smallest possible amount of energy.

Two Routes Open To Holiday Game

Local Organization Urges Traffic Division

Two routes to College Station will be open to Texas supporters Thursday. These two roads are of equal distance to College Station, and in dry weather both roads are in good condition. The Chamber of Commerce has urged that the traffic be as equally divided in order to avoid delay and to prevent accidents.

One route is by the way of Elgin, Giddings, and Caldwell into Bryan, and then on out to College Station. This road is not advised during wet weather as there is a stretch of dirt road from Giddings to the Brazos County line. In dry weather this road is equally as good as the other road. The distance on this route is 117 miles.

The other route is by way of Round Rock, Taylor, Milano, Hearne, and then to Eryan. This road has a good hard surface and is in good condition all the way. This distance is 117 miles.

"CAN WE BE THANKFUL?" will be the theme of the special Thanksgiving sermon by the Rev. F. G. Roesener of St. Martin's Lutheran Church at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. The service will be enhanced with a musical setting composed of vocal solos, violin duets, and an anthem by the choir, directed by Professor C. C. Klaerner.

Browne, Kallen Scheduled For Hillel Lectures

Author Follows Philosopher In Addresses Before New Society

Kallen Talks First

Author of 'This Believing World' Invited to Speak Here February 26

Dr. Horace M. Kallen and Lewis Browne are scheduled to speak in Austin this season under auspices of the newly organized Menorah Society, which is sponsored by the cultural committee of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, it was announced Monday.

Dr. Kallen is expected to lecture in Austin December 10, coming here from Dallas where he is to speak before the Open Forum. Dr. Kallen is ranked as one of America's outstanding philosophers and is well-known as a speaker.

Lewis Browne, the author of "This Believing World" and other books, is noted for being a speaker. His engagement in Austin is scheduled for February 26.

Menorah Society held its first meeting Sunday in the Hillel Foundation rooms with Simon Frank and Elizabeth Jacobs, co-chairmen, in charge. Dr. H. J. Ettlinger explained the purpose of the society: to hold discussions of the history, literature and ideals of the Jewish people. The society, he said, was founded in 1906 at Harvard University. The group will meet bi-monthly.

Rally Plans Made For San Antonio

Ex-Students Inaugurate Thanksgiving Meet

Plans for an annual pre-Thanksgiving rally of A. & M. and University of Texas ex-students of San Antonio were drawn up at the first meeting Monday at the Milan Cafeteria in San Antonio, John A. McCurdy, secretary of the Ex-Students' Association, reported Tuesday.

This is the first attempt at organization made in San Antonio, although for several years the Houston ex-students of Texas A. & M. and the University have had an annual meeting before Thanksgiving. T. B. Wardin, president of the A. & M. Ex-Students' Association, and Ralph Goeth of the Texas association were the principal speakers. The meeting was arranged by Russel White, president of the San Antonio A. & M. Club, and 100 ex-students attended. Honored guests were Jack O'Brien of the San Antonio Evening News; Reed Coart, president of the Texas Ex-Students' Association in San Antonio; H. H. Scherwitz, and Ward Burris.

'Road to Canterbury' Described in Lecture

Miss Fannye N. Cherry will deliver a talk to the Texas State Teachers Association convention here this week on "Down the Road to Canterbury, an Experiment in Material and Method."

Miss Cherry is an assistant in the visual instruction bureau, and her talk will consist of an illustrated lecture on the pilgrimage to Canterbury as Chaucer describes it, with comments on it as an example of encouraging extensive reading of a large body of literature.

TO REMAIN IN AUSTIN

President H. Y. Benedict will not see the game at A. & M. Thursday but will attend the convention of the Texas State Teachers Association here Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. "We both regret having to miss the game," Mrs. Benedict stated Monday.

TO HAVE COMMUNION

Since Thanksgiving Day is also St. Andrew's Day, the University Episcopal Church will have Holy Communion at 7:30 o'clock Thursday. The congregation will worship with the Texas State Teachers Association and the campus churches at Gregory Gymnasium at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

CLUB VISITS ICE PLANT

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers in the University visited the Capitol Ice Company Monday night. R. C. Amman, manager of the plant, conducted the tour through the plant and told of the outstanding features of the system.

Driskill Banquet Tonight to Honor Board of Regents

There is, apparently, some misunderstanding in the faculty as to the nature of the banquet to be given at the Driskill Hotel this Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock. The banquet is given in honor of the Regents, ex-Regents who were members of the board when the building program was inaugurated, and the building committee of the faculty. Faculty, ex-students, and friends of the University are invited to participate. Reservations and tickets may be obtained from the office of the Ex-Students' Association in the Texas Union. The price of the plate is $1.25.

DeWitt Arranges For Longest Pep Rally in History

Demonstration Will Begin Here and Terminate At Bryan

Beginning at 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning, the most extended pep rally in the history of the University will be staged preceding the annual Texas-Aggie football classic.

The rally will be started before the train carrying the Longhorn football squad departs from the Missouri-Pacific depot here, will continue throughout the trip on the special train, and end about noon with a parade to the LaSalle Hotel in Bryan.

At intervals of twenty minutes throughout the trip, the dance in the baggage car will be interrupted long enough for a Texas yell, Gill DeWitt, head yell leader announced Tuesday. Each time, the leaders will attempt to have some member of the football team present.

The yell leader said that "regardless of where they stand in the race, we must show the team that we are still behind them. A. & M. students are planning the biggest rally and bonfire in several years for tonight even though their team is as far out of the conference race."

"Every person, fan or student, should make it a point to be at the station and give the team the biggest send-off ever," DeWitt concluded.

Cowboys Will Meet At Gym Wednesday

The University Cowboys will hold a drill and meeting Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock in Gregory Gym. All members are required to be present.

The Cowboys are sponsoring all concessions on the Missouri-Pacific special leaving Austin at 7:50 o'clock Thursday morning. A novelty dance will be held in a baggage car, which has been set aside for the purpose.

After their return from the game at College Station, they will act as guides for visiting State teachers on the campus.

Journalists Hear Talk By Capitol Reporter

An insight into the daily grind of covering the State Capitol was given members of Sigma Delta Chi last night by Charles Simons, staff worker of the Associated Press, in an informal discussion in the Texas Union.

Mr. Simons also presented a picture of how the Associated Press covered and distributed the news of the nation. Before the discussion he was dinner guest of the fraternity at the Commons.

HEADQUARTERS NAMED

All women visitors who attend the Texas-A. & M. game Thanksgiving day will have headquarters in the Library Building according to information received by The Daily Texan from College Station Tuesday. In previous years the students of A. & M. have given up one or two of their dormitories to the girls to use as a hotel. Word has not been received as to whether this will be done again this year, but it is thought that this will be the case as in previous times.

MORTAR BOARD GIVES TEA

The members of Mortar Board have chosen the date of December 5 for a musical tea. This tea, the second of a series to be given throughout the year for the purpose of interesting freshman girls along vocational lines, is under the supervision of Lillian Ammann.

Nowotny Discusses Problem Of Fraternity Pledging Before Freshman Club

'Hazing Is Less'

Assistant Dean Asserts Educational Values Are Stressed

"Fraternities, Pro and Con," was the title of the speech delivered to the Freshman Fellowship Club by Arno Nowotny, assistant dean of men, Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

Mr. Nowotny first presented a historical background of the fraternity movement, telling how it started, how the number of chapters have increased, the significance of fraternities today, and the membership at the present time.

Among the assets of the present day fraternity listed by Mr. Nowotny was its educational value. He pointed out that it is easier for the school officials to deal with the closely organized groups, and that as a rule the group would try harder to raise the standards of the body as a whole. He said that fraternities also attract many students to the University and bind them more closely to the school after they have been graduated. Fraternities furnish living accommodations for about 600 boys and develop a spirit of fellowship and comradeship among the members.

For the other side of the question, Mr. Nowotny stated that in the past fraternities had led in some instances to undue extravagances among the members but that this tendency was not so noticeable at the present time.

"Hazing, I am glad to notice, is steadily decreasing, as it should, because all of the national heads of the fraternities frown upon it," Mr. Nowotny said.

"Fraternities have not applied sound business principles to their financial affairs in the past. Too often they have selected as house manager a boy who has more popularity than business ability, and this sometimes results in financial disruption.

"I consider fraternities a distinct advantage to the University," he said. "All fraternities have the same purpose and no boy should feel that he is a social outcast if he fails to make a certain one. The quality of the men in the organization, not the size of the group, should be considered first. One planning to join a fraternity should at the start find out the financial status of the organization. These figures may be obtained in my office in Main Building."

Delta Kappa Gamma To Honor Delegates

More than 160 members from various parts of Texas have made reservations for the banquet to be given by Delta Kappa Gamma, national fraternity of women teachers, in the Driskill Hotel at 12:30 o'clock Saturday, Dr. Clara M. Parker of the University, Austin president and in charge of the reservations, said yesterday.

The banquet will be an informal social affair with music, she added. Miss Mamie Bastian of Houston, State president of the organization, will preside.

VISITORS TO SEE EXHIBIT

The art exhibit in the Architectural Building by Raymond Everett, associate professor of freehand drawing and painting, will be open Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons from 2 to 6 o'clock and Wednesday night from 7 to 10 o'clock for the benefit of the visiting teachers in Austin Thanksgiving. The exhibit will be closed after Wednesday night, Mr. Everett said.

DUNCAN SUCCEEDS KIRK

Katherine Duncan of Amarillo has been selected to succeed Frances Kirk on the Texas Union Board, Hill Hodges, president of the Students' Association, announced. Miss Kirk did not return to the University this year, and Miss Duncan was chosen to fill her position by the president and members of the Student Assembly.

Student Forum

The Daily Texan invites the writing of free-lance editorials or "firing line" articles to be published in the Student Forum column.

Such editorials must be written by students of the University and must pertain directly to some phase of student life.

All contributions must be signed, but the contributor's name will not be printed if he so requests. Unsigned articles will not be printed.

Those of 200 words or less will receive preference.

OFFICE HOURS

Three times this week I have gone to offices to see teachers listed in the University directory as having office hours at the particular times I called. The hours are posted on the doors, but the doors are shut. Some of the calls I have made have been at the price of considerable time and trouble. I am very busy; I dislike to waste time. It is rather provoking to walk a block or two, up two or three flights of stairs, right at the time when several other duties are pressing, and to be met by a closed door or an empty office.

Surely the emergencies when it is necessary to fail to meet posted office hours should be very rare.

Any investigation into this question will probably, almost surely, reveal that at least 95 per cent of the professors are very conscientious in being available to their students at the listed hours; but the other 5 per cent are most annoying to the student. We appreciate those professors who are in their offices on time and who stay there the full time; we hope the others may take this in the light that their services are valuable and desired, and will resolve to be where we can get to them.

AT THE COWBOYS AGAIN

Now that the Cowboys' activities are about through this semester, it might be in order to say one or two things about them.

That as a pep organization they are a failure is generally recognized. At first, I am sure, their formations on the field were novel and entertaining, but continued repetition without variation has dulled the novelty, and made them monotonous. They themselves, in their spiritless marching, lack the fire and color that would add so much to a spirit that is so sadly lacking.

THE COWBOYS NEED TO BE REORGANIZED! They are not a fraternity, a social club, a debating club. Not at all! They belong to The University of Texas, and as such should represent The University of Texas. As they stand now, the Cowboys do not mean more than a glorified spoils system. With four thousand men and women out of organizations, and only two thousand in them, there is a stipulation that 5 per cent of its 35 or 40 members shall come from outside of these organized groups. If the Cowboys are to justify their existence, let them make it a representative group. The boys in there now are good boys—but the world is full of them. What is needed is real leadership that appreciates the meaning of spirit and service. Why couldn't the Cowboys supervise the bonfire? Why couldn't the Cowboys do some special stunts at football and basketball games? Why couldn't the Cowboys build up a freshman spirit and sponsor freshman parades? Why couldn't the Cowboys be instrumental in the organization of a girls' pep squad? Why can't the Cowboys, instead of being dull, listless, half-asleep, become a vital, energetic, spirited group that would really add something to the campus?

The Cowboys now deserve condemnation, but so great are their potentialities that condemnation ought to serve as an incentive to make the Cowboys more than an empty shell of would-be honor.

SUGAR-COATED EDUCATION

If your professor comes to class wearing a red necktie, with his collar sticking out in the rear . . .

If he teeters back in his chair on the edge of the lecture platform . . .

If he repeats the same stale story every day . . .

If he indulges in biting sarcasm, such as "Even though you are a blonde you may know the answer . . ."

If he uses absurd illustrations, as "As Mae West once said about the economic situation . . ."

If he discusses controversial subjects, beginning with, "Hitler is right concerning the Jews"; reminiscences with "Now when I was a boy—"; arguments with "Apparently no one in this class has the ingenuity to—"

That it is necessary to resort to such tactics to hold the attention of students is not the reflection on the quality of the lectures and the intelligence of the students that it might seem at first. The ideal situation, of course, would be that in which the material lectured upon is so bright and the students so alert to the problems that no stage effects would be necessary to keep back the yawns.

But education, like everything else in this world of hurry, must fight for attention. The instructor must run competition to Mae West shows, radio dance orchestras, and daring new books and magazines. He must make his lectures so specific in their application, so vital to the students, that they will not be disregarded.

Lectures, and for that matter our whole educational system, should not in the majority of courses, attempt to hand out absolute knowledge and facts that will soon be refuted by a new scientist or philosopher anyway. Rather they should awaken the curiosity and discussion so the students will seek to know and ask "Why?" under professorial guidance.

The fact-absorbing student will find himself lost in the changing, sifting world of ideas when he is graduated, unless he has learned to think.

Our professors must be more than lecturers. They must be actors and players with their eyes on the audience. As long as they have something to say and don't detract from the subject matter with their grandstanding, the psychological tricks are all to the good.

If our professors have to stand on their heads to get attention and make students think, it is worthwhile.

HAROLD TEEN—SHORTS TO THE END

Danger Seen In Attitude Gold Price Hiked

APPROVAL—When California's governor, James Rolph, Jr., frankly approved the lynching of John M. Holmes and Thomas H. Thurmond, confessed kidnapers-slayers of Brooke Hart, San Jose youth, he did something that very few public officials have ever done.

But, instead of criticism, he has received letters, telegrams, and telephone calls from all over the United States praising him for his stand in saying the hanging was "a fine lesson to the whole nation." So far his censurers have been few.

Even before the men were dragged from the barricaded San Jose jail to be hanged to a tree in an adjoining park, the governor indicated his attitude when he said he would not send troops to protect "those two guys." When he was informed of the lynching he went beyond giving his approval by promising to pardon any person convicted of aiding in the hangings. He said he would like to release all San Quentin and Folsom penitentiary inmates serving sentences for kidnappings into the custody of "the fine, patriotic San Jose citizens who know how to handle such a situation."

DANGER—While there is little doubt that the San Jose kidnapers got no more than they deserved, there is danger than official condoning of lynching may set a precedent that may jeopardize lives of innocent persons and disrupt the whole system of legal procedure in the country.

An angry mob cannot be controlled. It cannot be reasoned with or deterred from its purpose without force. Life and property mean nothing when they come between the mob and its purpose. Before approving any mob action, it is necessary to consider what could have happened.

What would have been Governor Rolph's attitude had the wrong men been lynched?

VIOLENCE—Meanwhile, the attitude of Maryland's governor, Albert C. Ritchie, toward the lynching on October 18 of George Armwood, negro accused of attacking an aged Princess Anne woman, has been one of distinct disapproval.

In spite of opposition from subordinates and citizens he has led a drive to bring the mob leaders to trial. So far four men have been arrested.

But yesterday, a Salisbury, Md., crowd used bricks and stones to emphasize its disapproval of the governor's attitude. When state militia tried to take the arrested men to Baltimore the crowd gathered around the town's armory, screaming and condemning state officials. Firemen had to be called and tear gas bombs had to be exploded before the mob would fall back.

Later the troops were able to leave Salisbury, but it was not known whether or not they took the prisoners with them.

GOLD—Spiking rumors that President Roosevelt was ready to abandon his gold policy, the R. F. C. yesterday raised the quotation for the newly mined domestic metal 9 cents, topping the price in the London Market by the biggest margin since the program's inauguration.

In setting the price at $33.85 the R. F. C. boosted the quotation for the first time in seven days, during which time the dollar has strengthened abroad and government bonds have gone up.

Meanwhile Governor Eugene Black of the Federal Reserve Board left for Warm Springs, Ga., to confer with Roosevelt. He would not say whether or not possible shifts in the monetary program would be discussed.

UNION—Workers in the NRA headquarters in Washington have decided to do a little collective bargaining themselves.

Shortly after General Johnson

got-back from his tour of the Midwest, the NRA workers received their charter as a member group of the American Federation of Government Employees. They have announced that they want shorter hours and higher pay, and claim that the 40-hour week is only a theory in that branch of Government service.

General Johnson, whom leaders say opposed the movement, has blamed the long hours on the fact that the department had to be built up almost overnight, and there has not yet been time for proper rearrangements and adjustments.

BRIEFS—Yesterday Governor Miriam A. Ferguson announced that she would not be a candidate for re-election to her office . . .

Father Charles E. Coughlin declared Monday night that the purpose of the "Wall Street and Morgan attacks on the administration" is to "ruin Mr. Roosevelt and build up Ogden Mills for the presidency in 1936" . . . Yesterday six prisoners at Eastham state prison farm at Huntsville overpowered guards, bound them to trees with bailing wire, and escaped into northeast Texas . . . Codes for the liquor industry and the motion picture business were signed by Roosevelt yesterday.

Why—

You say
Chesterfields are not like other cigarettes

CIGARETTES are made of tobacco, wrapped in paper, and they may look alike; but that doesn't mean that they are alike.

Chesterfield Cigarettes are not like other cigarettes. The tobacco is not like the tobacco used in other cigarettes. It is mild, ripe—not harsh, or strong.

Then again, Chesterfields taste better. They are seasoned in the right way with the right kind of Turkish Tobacco. There is nothing flat or tasteless about them.

You're telling me "They Satisfy"!

Reviewed Today

"TORCH SINGER" with Claudette Colbert, Ricardo Cortez, David Manners, Lyda Roberti, and Baby LeRoy. From the story, "Mike," by Grace Perkins. Directed by Alexander Hall and George Somnes. A Paramount picture. At the Hancock.

A touching and somewhat over-dramatic story of a chorus girl who is loved and left by a rich young man (David Manners) who goes to China and leaves her to have his baby in a charity hospital, is told in "Torch Singer." Claudette Colbert is the girl, and Lyda Roberti is the girl friend who goes through the same experience. They live together for a time, Dora (Miss Roberti) working and Sally Trent (Miss Colbert) caring for the babies. Dora gets married and Sally is forced to give up her baby for good because she can't take care of her. Then she works her way up from back street speakeasy to one of the best cabarets on Broadway as a singer. She accidentally gets a contract to tell bedtime stories over the radio, through which medium she finally discovers her daughter, and she and her long lost lover are reunited through little Sally.

Miss Colbert gives a sympathetic performance, but it is not the best she has done. Ricardo Cortez has a role that he portrays most satisfactorily—that of a young radio corporation manager who befriends Sally.

Today Only

"THE PRIZE RING" and a wandering, homeless, nameless tramp life form the background of "The Life of Jimmy Dolan" starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., with Loretta Young, Aline MacMahon, Fifi Dorsay, and Lyle Talbot. The story is based on the play by Bertram Milhauser and Pauline Marie Dix.

Loretta Young is paired with Mr. Fairbanks in this picture after a period of two years during which time both have become stars.

The story follows the life of a left-handed prize fighter who has to leave the ring after he has committed a crime. He hides himself from justice by endless wandering which finally ends at a lonely farmhouse where he falls in love.

Longhorns Drill New Plays in Secret Practice Session

This SPORTING World

By STANLEY GUNN

Aggie Game—
For 39 years the Longhorns and the Aggies have locked horns in the traditionally richest battle in the entire Southwest. Regardless of conference standings the two teams annually put up a great battle for the spectators who always follow Steer-Aggie clashes in preference to any other game of the season. Although the Longhorns are tied with Southern Methodist for fourth place and the Aggies are in third position, the game is expected to be a close, thrilling contest, between equally matched evens.

Critics Say—
It has been said that the Aggie's great victory over Tulane in September ruined their pennant chances. The critics state that the Farmers couldn't assimilate all of the favorable publicity that they received following the game. In other words the Aggies got well-headed and didn't play the brand of ball they were capable of playing. Other critics added that a team couldn't play superior ball in September and then continue through October and November. All of which may or may not be true but the Aggies along with other teams in the conference proved to be in-an-outr... one week they showed great form and then failed the next.

Conference Record—
After the startling win over the mighty Tulane Green Wave the Farmers rested two weeks in non-conference tilts before going to Fort Worth to meet the unproved, untested Horned Frogs. The Aggies came highly touted and were expected to beat the Frogs by a touchdown or two. Instead the Christian team outcharged and outgated the Farmers 13-7. The Aggies returned to College Station to work vigorously for the invading Baylor Bears. The Bruins met a hard fighting Aggie crew and lost 14-7. Then Matty Bell's team met the invincible Gentlemen of Centenary College who downed them 20-0 in Shreveport. The next week the Southern Methodist Mustangs, still smarting from the defeat inflicted by the Hilliard-led Longhorns, smothered their hosts 19-0 on Kyle Field.

Bell Dismissed—
During the next week the dismissal of Coach Matty Bell was announced and as proof of their loyalty, the Aggies opened an aerial attack on the Rice Owls to win 27-0 at Houston. Thus there will be the added incentive to beat the Steers Thanksgiving Day. The Aggies remained idle this past week-end and should be in excellent condition, both mentally and physically, to go up against the Steers.

Coaching Situation—
The coaching situation among schools of the Southwest Conference has set the wolves howling for nearly all of the coaches' scalps. Francis Schmidt of the Christian school appears to be the only mentor left alone but if he loses a few games next season then it's likely that his job will be uncertain. The latest developments in Austin indicate that old John Public and Gus Fan don't want the best coach or one of the best coaches in the Southwest Conference—instead one of the leading mentors of the United States to guide the destinies of Longhorn football teams.

National Recognition—
Certainly a university that is ranked highly among the nation's best in other matters should procure the services of a football coach who could lead a team into national recognition and as one writer has already stated... "fill up the empty seats at Memorial Stadium." With those same seats occupied each week-end there would be beyond a doubt enough money in the coffers to hire a most talented instructor. Texas is prominent through all the states in track, tennis, scholastically, etc., so why not in football?

Better Material—
The supporters cry that Littlefield had no material. It's evident that his material was equal to any of the other conference coaches. With a mentor of national fame Texas would acquire a wealth of material, recruited from every high school in the State. Promising high school players go to colleges where football teams are nationally outstanding each year. Others enroll in the school winning the Southwest Conference title for that particular season. The rest scatter as they choose... where their fathers, brothers, or friends have gone.

BEARS PLAY RICE
WACO, Nov. 28.—With their championship hopes boosted by a 13-7 victory over Southern Methodist University last Saturday the Golden Bears of Baylor University started their last week of training in the 1933 football season pointing for the contest with Jack Meagher's Rice Owls to be played in Waco on Saturday, December 2.

Barred Gates Meet Sport Scribes

Dummy scrimmage between two varsity squads was the main feature of Tuesday's practice program as Coach Clyde Littlefield continued his "extra-secret" practice sessions. In line with his new policy Littlefield again refused admittance to sports writers and former players. Hitherto secret practices included writers and ex-Longhorns, but this week the Steer mentor is working behind rigidly barred gates in an effort to develop the Orange and White's shattered offense and defense.

A play-by-play report of the Texas-A. & M. game will be broadcast in front of the Co-Op beginning at 2:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Reports will be handled by a special leased wire direct from Kyle Field at College Station.

Newest developments indicate that a re-vamped Longhorn offense will take the field in Aggie-land on Turkey Day. New plays have been added and it is possible that a new backfield combination will be used as the Steers plan to upset the Kyle Field tradition and take the Aggies into camp on their home gridiron. Should Buster Jurecka's injuries fail to heal in time it is likely that Haddock will start at half with Bohn Hilliard, and big Jay Arnold should likely start at fullback. Marshall Pennington may be replaced at guard by Rex Phillips since Pennington's injured chin may not heal.

Aggie plays were also demonstrated in Tuesday's practice and Littlefield will likely concentrate on a pass defense against the aerial barrage expected to be used Thursday. The early part of yesterday's workout included punting and passing. Bill James also drilled his linemen in a blocking session. The squad will go through a signal drill and warming up exercise this afternoon and will leave for College Station tomorrow morning.

TECH PLAYS KANSAS
LUBBOCK, Nov. 28.—After a four day period of rest following the 13 to 0 victory over the Baylor Bears, the Texas Technological College Matadors have begun light practice in preparation for the Thanksgiving game with Bo McMillin's Kansas State Wildcats on the Tech field. It is the first meeting of the teams, but will not require traditional rivalry to make a football classic and bring ten thousand fans here.

International Polo Player to Appear in Austin December 17

Cecil Smith Plays With Local Squad

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 28.—Cecil Smith, famous international polo player who played on the West team which defeated the East early this fall, will appear in Austin December 17 with George Miller's famous Austin polo club against the University of Texas polo team.

Vernon Cook, captain of the Collegians, was here today to complete negotiations with Smith. Rube Williams, equally well-known poloist, George Miller, and Gilmore will be in the line-up. These men upset all polo dope when they invaded Chicago this fall to defeat a strong Eastern team, the pick of the United States.

Rube Williams sustained a broken leg during the Chicago games, but the limb is now almost completely healed.

Cook said that the guarantee to the Austin Polo Club was heavy, but that he hoped the Austin people and University students would get behind them with plenty of support to insure a large crowd.

The University squad has played fourteen games this season and lost but three. They have scored 82 points to their opponents' 51.

Looking Over Texas 'T' Men

Arthur Niebuhr, two-year letterman from Brenham who is playing his last year with the Steer football squad, is an excellent example of the theory that some of the best football players come from small towns.

Niebuhr, who is 22 years old, six feet one and one-half inches tall, and who weighs 198 pounds, is rated as one of the best tackles in the conference this fall, and has an excellent chance to win a berth on the mythical eleven if he continues his good work through the A. & M. game. Niebuhr has played one of the most consistently good games in his entire career at the University this year. With Captain Smith and Coates, he has helped to make the Longhorn walk the most powerful offensive line in the conference.

Niebuhr was injured during the greater part of his first season and was not used very much until the A. & M. game. In his second year, though, he developed to such an extent that he became one of the best tackles on the squad, and his coaches claim he is one of the best tackles on the Orange and White squad this year.

Touch football has been extremely successful for its first year as an intramural sport. Six hundred and forty-eight men participated this year and there were only two games forfeited on the schedule. The Student Advisory Committee will meet Tuesday to study touch football and to recommend changes which will improve the game and lessen the number of injuries resulting from it.

Coach Alderson's Frosh Play Tie Game, 14-14

Sheridan Stars With Red Team

When Shorty Alderson's freshman teams met in their annual grid classic at Memorial Stadium yesterday and played a 14-14 tie, fans were treated to one of the most thrilling exhibitions of football seen in Austin this year.

Long accurate passes, high spiraling punts that averaged 40 yards, and beautiful broken field running by Red Sheridan, quarterback on the Red team, and Red Barclay, quarterback on the Blue team were the features of the hard fought tilt. The two freshman griders were the stars of the game with Barclay holding an edge on the running plays, while Sheridan had the edge on punts. The passing of both men was equally excellent.

Lines Play Well
Both lines played excellent football and fought with a great show of spirit from start to finish, and the players in both backfields cleared the way for their two stars with perfect blocking.

One of the most sensational runs of the game was made by Red Barclay who caught a long punt from Sheridan behind his own goal line and who after being driven back into the end zone twice managed to break away from two tacklers and return to his own 40-yard line. On the next play Barclay passed 30 yards to Sands, end and fastest man on the freshman squad, who outdistanced the Red secondaries to score for the Blues. Two plays were good for 100 yards. The other touchdowns were made by Gilreath, halfback on the Red team, Barclay, and Sheridan.

Pietzer, Sheridan, and Wolf converted the four extra points.

The Aggie seniors will hold their traditional "elephant walk" Wednesday afternoon on the military walk of the college. Featuring the social calendar for the period will be big "football" dances in the college mess hall Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Aggieband Orchestra, composed of students at the college, will play for Wednesday night's dance, and Dave Harman's fourteen-piece Columbia Broadcasting System orchestra will play for the Thanksgiving night ball, which will be in honor of the Aggie and Longhorn football teams and the Aggie cross country team.
