

'Sorority Status' Is Panhellenic Talk Topic at U. T. Meet

Societies Should Be Democratic, Says Oklahoma University Dean

"Fraternities in the World Today," keynote of the two-day regional Panhellenic Conference being held on the campus through Saturday, predominated Friday at the afternoon and night meetings, when representative visitors to the campus spoke on the status and problems of social sororities on University campuses.

"A fraternity is a unit motivated by friendship, group purpose, and an enthusiastic wish to participate," said Miss Mary Clay Williams, counselor of women at the University of Tulsa, at the opening session. She professed a firm conviction that if the American youth today has its mind and heart set on a problem, that problem can be worked out satisfactorily in a short time.

Miss Williams said further that fraternities have been and can be very beneficial to college students. Today colleges have become more interested in the individual, his housing, food, classroom work, and social adjustments. And fraternities have furnished interesting laboratory work along those lines.

"A fraternity should offer an opportunity for a democratic living," she added. Only by achieving a democratic living in a group, can it be achieved in a world. "Fraternities can not expect to exist as a parasitic group," Miss Williams concluded. "They must contribute to the University and to the world as a whole."

Another side of the question was discussed Friday night when Miss Dorothy Gebauer, dean of women of The University of Texas, and Miss Margaret Stephenson, dean of women of the University of Oklahoma, led a discussion on "The Fraternity from the Administration's Standpoint."

Main topics of discussion were ways to better the understanding between the dean's office and Panhellenic, and to improve the relations between sorority and non-sorority girls.

"The thing that will ultimately cause the downfall of sororities unless something drastic is done, is the criticism of the sorority exclusiveness and lack of democracy," said Miss Stephenson.

Miss Gebauer made the suggestion that Panhellenic be made the clearing house of all problems and ideas of the sororities. "This might also be a means of discovering individual talents," she added.

After the meeting, the delegates were guests at the all-University dance in the main ballroom of the Union.

Saturday's program will begin with a general session at 9 o'clock with Mrs. H. H. Power presiding. There will be a round table discussion on the following topics: Rushing, led by Mrs. Robert C. Cralle; Limitation, Mrs. Harold Helper; Finance, Mrs. G. M. Simonson; Publicity, Mrs. Richard B. Rutledge; Cultural Programs, Miss Margaret Peck; Personal Guidance, Mrs. William Spice; and Fraternity Standards, led by Mrs. C. E. Granger.

Luncheon will be at the Pi Beta Phi house, with Alpha Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Chi Omega, Phi Mu, and Sigma Delta Tau assisting.

The afternoon meeting will be divided into two parts, with Mrs. Harold Helper presiding over the college Panhellenics, and Mrs. E. M. Pooley presiding at the meeting of the alumnae Panhellenics. Scholarship, pledge training, activities, leadership, and choosing the chapter officers will be the topics discussed by the college group.

The convention will close with a formal banquet Saturday night at 7 o'clock in the Main Ballroom of the Union. Mrs. O. D. Weeks will be toastmistress, and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins will speak on "Challenging Responsibilities in a Changing World."

Youth Orchestra Applications Due Monday

Applications aimed at a seat in the all-American Youth Orchestra must be in the local NYA office by Monday.

Auditions preliminary to the state finals will be held for youths of the Austin area by a committee composed of Colonel George Hurt, director of the Longhorn Band, Mrs. Anita Storrs Gaedcke, head of the violin department of the School of Fine Arts, and Miss Maurine Owen, director of the Austin High School orchestra.

Wiley Believes 'Ism' Bill Shows U. S. Fascism

Economist Says Measure Contrary To Democracy

BY ELGIN WILLIAMS

"Anybody who dared propose an amendment to the Constitution could be declared a traitor to Texas and to the United States under a strict interpretation of the provisions of the Fain bill now before the Legislature," Dr. C. A. Wiley, professor of economics, said Friday.

"This bill," he continued, "is one of the best evidences we have of the growth of fascism in the United States."

Senator Fain's bill, now under consideration by the Texas House of Representatives, would make subject to immediate dismissal any school teacher or university professor who has "expounded doctrines to his students which are in any way inimical to the Constitution and laws of the United States or of the State of Texas."

Dr. Wiley emphasized that the danger of the bill lies in the interpretation of the word "inimical."

Under a strict interpretation, merely calling some part of the Constitution obsolete, or suggesting an amendment to it, could be deemed "inimical to the Constitution," he said.

Dr. Wiley then explained his idea of the dangers that lie in such a bill becoming a law.

"Our Constitution grew out of debate and discussion and criticism," he said. "Once you get enough laws so that you can't criticize our political and economic systems you get down right political and economic stagnation, which is contrary to all the principles of democratic freedom."

In the House, Representatives Joe Skiles of Denton, calling for the referring of the bill to the education committee instead of the military affairs committee, declared that it is a bad policy, even in times of great stress, to place educational matters under the jurisdiction of authorities in whom military control is vested.

"What this bill overlooked is the fact that our economic and political order is a growing, changing thing," said Dr. Wiley, on economic rules.

"You can't set up hard and fast rules to run the order," he said. "You must have a dynamic attitude and constantly study and discuss the effectiveness of a dynamic, changing economy."

He sees in the bill provisions that would curtail economic progress and welfare in the United States.

"The economics student, the economics professor, and the economics research men have to be at all times as scientific as an automobile mechanic," Dr. Wiley said. "And if our economic machine is not functioning, it should be overhauled, amended, and repaired."

"But this bill says that we bought the old automobile in 1909," he said. "It was a good one then; so it's a good one now. You can't however, run an economic and political machine without constant changes."

If we want to make this country safe from fascism we should protect and enlarge our privileges and rights by extending them and not by curtailing them, he warned.

of barbed wire challenged even the bravest. Two shacks had sprung up overnight and now a monstrous machine had torn great gaps in the yielding earth where once the A.P.O. fought a gallant battle to preserve its grassy slopes.

But the worst is yet to come, say these dictators who threaten to destroy the land of the fee. They plan many more such enclosures, and before long the gallant swains of the Forty Acres will be forced to seek a new land, for the birthplace of love will be crushed under the ruthless heel of advancing civilization.

Are we, the freeholders in this great land, to stand idly by and let the trees and bushes that we love so well be destroyed? There in the shadow of the statue of the brave leader of the Confederate Army, Robert E. Lee, where the

3 More Records Fall In Aquacade Finale

Dillard and Sojka Trim Time to Win; Belles Call Patrick Most Handsome

BY DICK TARPLEY

Anxiety, awe, fear, and laughter—these emotions were common as three more records were shattered and R. B. Patrick, Longhorn fullback, was named most handsome athlete in the University, in the climax performance Friday night of Tex Robertson's spectacular show—the annual Aquacade.

Mike Sojka, outstanding Steer swimmer the past three years and freshman swimming coach this year, turned in the best performance of the night, besting the 400-yard breast stroke record by nearly .1 seconds. Sojka covered the distance in 5:26.8, displacing the old mark of 5:36.6. In practice last week, the freshman coach missed the mark by .08 seconds.

Jane Dillard set her third mark in three nights, adding a 50-meter breast stroke record to her 50-yard breast stroke record of Wednesday and 100-yard breast stroke mark of Thursday. Miss Dillard, who has been breaking records at the Aquacade since 1937, broke the old 50-meter mark of 38.8 seconds by 1.4 seconds with a 37.4 performance.

Paced by Fred Gass and Charles Wietzel, freshmen, the Longhorn 6-man relay team established a record of 6:40 in the 600-yard back stroke, 6.4 seconds under the former record. Aiding Gass and Wietzel were Roland Newman, Captain Harris McClamroch, Bob Gentry, and Wade Smith.

Neither Miss Dillard's nor the relay team's race is common in the United States though both are common in Europe. Tonight's performance brought the total records shattered to six.

Three Bluebonnet Belles, more conspicuous in their boat in Gregory Gym pool than were the seven entries for the most handsome athlete trophy, picked Patrick, football team representative, from a list of seven boys, which included Mac Umstatt of the cross-country team, Charley Roberts of the track team, David Bewley of the golf team, Malcolm Kutner in basketball, Roland Newman in swimming, and John Koschak in baseball.

As an outstanding freak performance, Bob Tarlton, captain of last year's swimming team and most handsome athlete in 1939, swam the distance of the pool under water, with both his hands and his feet tied.

Still the most consistent and spectacular diver of the Aquacade, Babe Papich was given considerable competition Friday by two Baylor boys, H. B. Howard and Bland Schwarting.

Howard executed a double gainer for the first time from a swinging trapeze thereby amazing the capacity audience, and Schwarting gave an even more startling dive. He started on what appeared to be a half gainer too near the diving board, turned a complete somersault, and re-landed on the board before diving into the water. This dive is called a "spot" dive.

Papich repeated his flaming torch dive from the tower Friday night, but completed a two-and-a-half turn dive for the first time in executing this freak attempt.

Gass, a Californian, won in the 100-yard back stroke with a 1:03.3 performance, was given a first place medal and his freshman teammate, Wietzel, gained the second place award.

Harris McClamroch's second 100-yard free style record, set by using rubber fins, still did not count.

Assignments have been made solely on a basis of need," Dean Moore stated. "We are not going to make the N.Y.A. an honorary fraternity."

Grades must not fall below the minimum, he pointed out.

More than three thousand applications for N.Y.A. jobs have been received this year. Officials have been able to provide employment for approximately one-third of this number.

Japs Seize Materials Sent From China to U. S.

HONG KONG, Feb. 7.—(INS)—Millions of dollars worth of tungsten and tung oil destined for shipment from China to the United States have fallen into Japanese hands, it was reported Friday.

The Japanese seized the goods, these advices said, after capturing Tamsui, formerly China's main base for running the Japanese blockade.

The tungsten and tung oil were to have been sent to Hong Kong and then shipped to America to help pay United States loans to the Chungking regime.

Ankle Injury To Keep Sleu Out

Nelms Will Lead Longhorn Offense

BY BILLY SANSON

With a jolting loss of high-scoring Sleu Hull as a result of an ankle injury, the Texas Longhorn head into the final half of Conference basketball play tonight in Gregory Gym opposite the floundering T.C.U. Frogs.

The game, Texas's first league start since they tripped the Christians on January 18 in Fort Worth will get under way at 8 o'clock following the Yearling-Tyler Junior College game at 6 o'clock.

Ed Olle, business manager of athletics, Friday afternoon repeated the new ticket policy to be opened with the T.C.U. game. There will be no restrictions or any general admission tickets such as were necessary during the first three games. General admissions may be purchased at any time.

The game tonight will be novel in one respect. It is the first tilt in three years that will not see the sparkling Hull in action. With a point-per-game average of better than ten, Hull's scoring as well as his fast floor play will be missing for the first time since he became eligible three years ago.

Hull turned his ankle in Wednesday's practice and despite a decided improvement that let him practice lightly Friday, indications were that he would not play tonight.

That left the brunt of the Steers' long-shooting attack and part of Jack Gray's quarterbacking to tiny Tommy Nelms, who will return to Conference play tonight for the first time since he played for the '39 Steer champs.

Nelms' long shots will add definite punch to the backcourt game and his defensive work should prove adequate.

Another newcomer, Les Sander, will also see his first loop action in his reserve role to Speedy Houpt.

Other than Hull, the Steer lineup will be the same as opened last Monday night against Bobby Moers' company. Captain Chester Granville and Denton Cooley will start at forwards, with Mal Kutner serving as help. Houpt will open at center and Nelms and Udell Moore will work at guards. Les Croucher will act as first line aid to Nelms and Moore.

The hapless Christians, cellar titlists for six of the past seven seasons, come to Austin at the height of their "win a Conference game" drive.

For the visitors, lanky Bob Groesclose, christened the "Ghost" by the Steer cagers, will be the main offensive threat. He will open at forward along with Buddy Barron, a wild shooting junior. "Slippy" Blackmon, carrying tales of great improvement behind him, will probably start at center, with Guy Holt and Al Wagler at guards.

Tonight's game will be the Longhorns last home battle for eleven days. Baylor comes here on February 19. Texas plays the Bears next Saturday night in Waco.

F. B. I. Questions Students Interested In Draft Trial

Seven students who showed an interest in a draft evasion case were questioned Friday by Willard A. Giddens, F.B.I. agent, in the corridor of the Federal Building about pacifist organizations on the campus.

A number of students had been attending the Federal Court where Van Darling Wilbarger, 33-year-old Negro charged with not registering for the draft, was being tried. After a recess Giddens questioned the students on their interest in trying to talk with Wilbarger.

One of the students, Clifford Zirkel of San Antonio, told Giddens that all the students attending the court sessions were conscientious objectors to war.

Giddens said that he intended no investigation of campus groups, but only wanted to know why the students were interested. He did add, however, that legitimate organizations often got mixed up with Communist doctrines.

Zirkel and Harvey Dibrell, two of the seven students at the Federal Building Friday, said last night on the campus that the students talked to Wilbarger in their own interests and that they did not represent any organizations on the campus.

On the Book Exchange

Book Store Managers Say Sales Increased Over '39

BY JACK HOWARD

In that it saved some money for the students it served and made a small profit on the side, the Students' Assembly book exchange which ceased business Thursday night was a "success."

For instance: It gave the original owner of each of the 811 books sold an average of 20 cents more on each volume than he would have received from the regular book stores.

It thereby saved, or earned, these original owners some $162. It grossed $40.55 profit and netted $10 above expenses of approximately $30.

Thus, when Manager Wendell Hanson makes his report to the Assembly next Thursday night, he can say that financially, at least, the project has lived up to expectations.

If the exchange expected to gain any sort of monopoly on the second-hand book business, however, it failed according to reports from managers of University vicinity stores.

E. C. Rafter, manager of the University Co-op, declared that his sales on new and old books were slightly ahead of last February and that purchases of second-hand books were greater this year.

"We have bought about $7,300 worth of used books since a week ago," Mr. Rafter explained. "Last year during the same period we bought only about $6,900 worth."

T. J. Hemphill, proprietor of Hemphill's Book Store, commented only that his sales of second-hand books had "increased slightly" over last year.

Neither Mr. Rafter nor Mr. Hemphill said they were able yet to produce actual accurate figures on the number of second-hand books handled. C. E. Berkman, manager of the Texas Book Store, refrained from issuing a statement.

The conclusion apparent is that the second-hand book dealing business had a field day this year. All three book stores and the exchange seem to have received an unexpected amount of trade.

Having taken in $1200 on the 811 books it sold, the exchange theoretically sold the average volume for about $1.50. Subtract the five-cent handling charge, and you have the original owner receiving $1.45 for his book.

If $1.50 can be assumed to be 60 per cent of the original cost price of the volume (which would then be $2.50), one can figure that

Exchange Concludes Transactions Today

Return of money and unsold volumes to persons who left books with the Students' Assembly exchange in the Texas Union will be concluded at noon Saturday, Manager Wendell Hanson announced Friday night.

Yet unclaimed at the enterprise are more than two hundred volumes and some $150, Hanson said. The exchange will be open from 9 to 12 o'clock Saturday. Selling ceased Thursday night.

Also selected were: Jack Aldred, Frank Frederick Bell III, Fielding Cochran Jr., James David Craig, William Steel Crombie Jr., Joe Raymond Corbin, Edwin Henry Frank, George T. Hemmingson Jr., Burford King

American Ballad 'Radical' Tune?

Baromeo and Choir To Sing It Sunday

"Ballad for Americans," the patriotic composition which Chase Baromeo and the University Choir will sing during the College of Fine Arts faculty concert Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Hogg Memorial Auditorium, was intended as a "radical" tune.

John Latouche, who wrote the modern cantata in 1936 while working with the Federal Theater Project, composed it in the vein of the revolutionaries' May Day song and was dismayed to learn that the "reactionary" Republican Party was to use his song to open its convention last summer.

The strange story of the once liberal song which came to vie with Irving Berlin's "God Bless America" as a streamlined national anthem was told last fall in Collier's Magazine.

The composition is based upon four highspots in United States history: the American Revolution, Growth of the Union, the Civil War, and the Machine Age.

The chorus reads: "Our marching song will come again, Simple as a hit tune, deep as our valleys, High as our mountains, strong as the people who made it, For I have always believed it, And believe it now, And you know who I am—America!"

Latouche turned out his lyric (Earl Robinson composed the music) for a Federal Theater show entitled "Sing for Your Supper." This production was a flop, and the song might have remained unknown if Paul Robeson, the Negro baritone, had not heard it and liked it and decided to "plug" it.

Time Magazine noted that when Robeson first sang the ballad over the network, six hundred studio listeners clapped for fifteen minutes, thousands of calls swamped Hollywood and New York switchboards of the broadcasting company, and a record number of letters asked a repeat performance.

An ardent liberal, Latouche commented on the success of his composition that, "When I tried to write a song for the people, everybody from Wendell Willkie to Henry Ford adopted it as a reactionary anthem."

The main difference between Latouche's "Ballad" and Berlin's "God Bless America" seems to be that whereas Berlin's composition can be sung by one person, Latouche's work requires choral effects, lyrical questions and answers, and an offstage lynching.

Times are altered: trade's unfeeling train Usurp the land, and dispossess the swain.

These words were penned by Goldsmith in the Eighteenth Century when enclosures were the burning problem of the day; but February 7, 1941, found the ten thousand inhabitants of the great Forty Acres faced with a similar problem.

Conservation and fear clouded the countenances of many of these people, when Friday morning, upon arriving at the hallowed ground for a day of honest toil, they saw that vandals constructing foundations for a new music building had desecrated all the rights and traditions that had made them a happy people. A fence completely enclosed two acres of what was once the sacred rendezvous of lovers.

Not just an ordinary fence, but to top it off, two vicious strands

75 Gridders Out for Spring Training

V. D. Basey Out Until September

BY TOM DAVISON
Texas Sports Staff

Initial plans for the 1941 football season were laid Friday afternoon when seventy-five aspirants turned out for D. X. Bible's opening spring grid practice.

While a chilling north wind was pushing the temperature down to forty-five degrees, the familiar baritone of Coach Bible dished out instructions; Jackie Crain's fog-horn voice barked calisthenic orders; and the rifle-like arm of Pete Layden bulleted passes in old-time form.

The oversized squad necessitated moving the practice scene to the more spacious freshman field where drills will be held until the squad is cut down to fifty by next Saturday. The two-hour drill opened with a round of calisthenics, followed by passing practice, blackboard drills, signal drills, and practice on blocking assignments.

Friday the team was without both its first string ends. Mal Kutner will miss the spring season due to basketball duties and Mike Sweeney was still limping on a sprained ankle. But the Irishman will be ready for next Saturday's opening scrimmage in Memorial Stadium. Co-Captain Red Goodwin will also miss the first few days of practice after a wisdom tooth extraction.

Chunky Buddy Jungmichel took over a starting guard assignment along with Chal Daniel yesterday after V. D. Basey decided to remain out of school this semester. However, Basey will be back in September when the Longhorns resume fall pre-season practice. Basey's absence from school will not affect his eligibility.

Here is the list of 75 candidates who received uniforms for spring training yesterday.

Dawson's 68 Leads In Texas Open

Dapper Johnny Dawson, the popular amateur from Hollywood, stole the show from the nation's top-flight golf professionals by taking the lead in the annual Texas Open Tournament at San Antonio yesterday with a three-under-par 68.

Closely pressing Dawson was one of the favorites to lead the field home at the end of the 72-hole marathon, little Ben Hogan, the long-hitting Texan who plays out of White Plains, N. Y. Hogan had a 69, and was closely followed by Dick Metz, another former Texan, who shot a 70. Four players tied with par 71's—Clayton Heafner, Craig Wood, and still two more Texans, Byron Nelson, and Ralph Guldahl.

Right up among the leaders was Austin's own Phillip George, the Willow Springs professional, who carded a fine 72 to come in ahead of some of the best golfers in the country.

Joe Davis May Become New Rice Line Coach

HOUSTON, Feb. 7.—(INS)—Joe Davis, Rice football end coach, is slated to become line coach of the Owls in the event that Dell Morgan leaves that post to become head coach at Texas Tech, it was learned today.

Rice head coach Jess Neely said there would be no additions to the staff because of Morgan's departure for the Lubbock assignment, considered a virtual certainty. Neely voiced his congratulations to Morgan and his regrets at losing so able an assistant.

Seein' Sports by Billy Sansing

It's a Long Road

It's a long time from next Thanksgiving, but you can already hear the talk: "Southwest Conference football champions—1941, The University of Texas. Yeah, they're saying it all right, but it's still a long, long road to that coveted crown and so much can happen before September training starts, let alone the season's end.

The favorite's role is a tough one and I wish they were saying that Rice was THE bunch. But they aren't. It's true that the Longhorns had their finest squad in many years romping 'round Memorial Stadium yesterday afternoon as spring practice opened.

But remember scholastic troubles, injuries, draft, etc. They can ruin many a great team, or at least pare it to being a good one. So we'll have to wait—and see—and wait.

'Most Handsome' Award

We can't wait to see who's going to take the "Most Handsome Athlete" prize at the Aquacade, but the rumor is going the rounds that if R. B. Patrick wins it, the other sports are going to protest. Patrick became scholastically ineligible the other day after mid-term exams. So, they say, he's just as ineligible for this "Beauty" contest.

Well, anyway, he would be if they conducted them under intercollegiate rules.

T.C.U. Still Weak

You hear all these stories about T.C.U.'s basketball team being good despite their many losses. You can make your own decision after tonight's game.

Personally, I think the Steers, even without Hull, should trounce the Toads by 15-20 points, maybe more. The Christians, as they were when Texas played them on January 18, are as bad as last year and the year before that, and etc.

That margin of victory is null and void, of course, if the officials go on another foul-calling spree such as occurred in the last Texas-T.C.U. game. Such goings-on ruin the game in more ways than one, that is, for the spectator and for the sport itself.

Yearlings Play Tyler J. C. at 6

Unbeaten Apaches Rate As Favorites

Facing what may be their toughest test of the season, the undefeated Texas freshman basketball team will clash with the strong Tyler Junior College Apaches at Gregory Gym at 6 o'clock in a preliminary game to the Texas-T.C.U. tilt.

Bringing together two of the classiest junior varsity quintets in the state, it should be one of the best games of the year, with the Apaches rating as slight favorites.

Ineligibility took its toll of the Yearling squad at mid-term by taking away two of the team's starters. Punch Hill was lost on grades and John Grady, lanky guard, who came here from Loyola of California, now has too many hours to be eligible for the freshmen. Taking their places will be John Kent at forward, and J. R. Childers at guard. The rest of the Yearling line-up will be the same as in past games—Jack Fitzgerald of Crowell at forward, John Hargis of Nacogdoches, center, and Dudley Wright, Houston, guard.

Boasting of an excellent record—they defeated the Baylor freshmen 60-39 and East Texas Reserves 62-38—the Apaches are determined to stop the Yearling winning streak. Three of the best junior college players in the state lead the Apache attack—Buck Overall of Cushing, a forward who scored 25 points against Baylor, Foster Bullock, the all-state Indian from Livingston who plays guard, and W. Williams, sharpshooting center. Others in the starting line-up are Kennaday, a guard who made eleven points against Baylor, and Clayton, a forward.

Manush Advances In Ball Players' Golf Tournament

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 7.—(INS)—Heinie Manush, manager of the Greensboro, N. C., club of the Piedmont League, who captured medalist honors yesterday with a 36-hole qualifying score of 145, today won his first round match in the sixth annual Baseball Players' Golf Tournament over the Jungle Club course.

Manush had considerable trouble in ousting Johnny Murphy, New York Yankee relief moundsman, one up on the twentieth hole.

Defending champion Wes Ferrell, former Cleveland pitcher, had comparatively easy sailing in eliminating Al Simmons, Philadelphia Athletics outfielder, 7 and 6.

As usual, Arkansas started off slowly and finished up in a torrid scoring pace. The Porkers were ahead 12 to 6 after ten minutes of play. In the middle of the first half they led, 23 to 12, and after 15 minutes they were leading 26 to 16, at the half.

In the second, Baylor put out all they had, and at one time managed to get within seven points of the towering Razorbacks. The visitors' threat was soon subdued and in the middle of the last period, Arkansas was well ahead, 46 to 28.

Dwight Parks, pint-sized Baylor guard, led scoring with 20 points, all of which came from field goals. Seven of them came in the last ten minutes of play. Arkansas' Long John Adams was second with 15 and Guard R. C. Pitts had 14.

Parks and Vaughn, a diminutive guard, offered most of the resistance on part of the visitors, while the entire Porker squad shared in the victory. Arkansas kept the ball most of the time and Porker players took shot after shot under their goal, while the Bears had to capitalize on every break to get their field shots.

Longhorns Meet Allen; Dick Menchaca Fights Eng While Wallis Battles Hair

Five members of the Longhorn Boxing Club will fight the Allen Academy boxing team tonight after the basketball game in Gregory Gym.

In the most publicized bout of the program, Phillip Eng of the Longhorns will take on Dick Menchaca, national Golden Gloves bantamweight champion. Menchaca is a clever boxer with a knock-out punch to be used when his opponent slips up.

Eng uses a stinging left jab to hold off his opponents, while using good footwork and fast blocking to save himself from injury. Eng has lost only one bout this year, losing to Johnny Perales, Golden Gloves champion for five years, in the finals of the District Golden Gloves tournament.

Ray Wallis, president of the Boxing Club and heavyweight fighter, will also fight a Golden Gloves champion when he meets Moe Hair, 240-pound winner of the Temple district tournament. However, Hair won the title on a default, while Wallis decided Gilbert Stromquist, 245-pound boxer, in the finals of the Austin tournament. Stromquist then went to San Antonio and won the Golden Gloves title there.

In his two other bouts, Wallis took one decision and fought a draw. He knocked his Victoria opponent down four times with short rights to the jaw last Saturday to earn a unanimous decision. In his first bout of the year, he drew with Lyndell Harrison of San Antonio.

Bill Smith, comparative newcomer to the boxing club, will get his second test of the year tonight in the middleweight division. In his first and only bout of the year, he decided Simon Luna, state T.A.A.F. middleweight champion from San Antonio. He used a jolting right smash to the jaw throughout the entire match to keep Luna off balance and will attempt the same trick tonight. Ed Scarbrough, Longhorn boxer and lightweight Golden Gloves champion, will also be one of the fighters tonight. Scarbrough packs a knockout wallop in his right hand, and although caring little for defense, he has never been knocked off his feet. In his only fight for the boxing club this year he decided Homer Chalk of San Antonio.

Gilbert Davis, welterweight, will be the fifth Steer fighter. Davis is a Golden Gloves champion, and, like Scarbrough, has never been knocked off his feet. He carries a finishing punch in his right and constantly stalks his opponent while waiting for an opening for the right.

Allen Academy, like the Longhorns, captured four of the district Golden Gloves titles. The Allen team won the team trophy in the Temple tournament, while the Longhorns did not enter the Austin meet as a team.

Other possible fighters for the Longhorns tonight will be welterweight Richard (Red) Hoekaday and middleweight Fred Green.

Bob McKinley of Fort Worth, former U. T. boxer and ex-president of the club will referee. McKinley is registered for work the second semester.

Buck Shaw Under Consideration For Notre Dame Coaching Job

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(INS)—Lawrence T. "Buck" Shaw, coach at Santa Clara University for the last four years, is under serious consideration for the position of athletic director and football coach at Notre Dame, the Chicago Herald-American said today.

Shaw, a former Notre Dame tackle, was interviewed in San Francisco yesterday by the Rev. John Cavanaugh, M.C.S.C., vice-president of the University of Notre Dame and athletic board chairman, the Herald-American story stated.

The Notre Dame board of athletic control meets in South Bend, Ind., tonight to begin the task of choosing a successor to Elmer Layden as athletic director and head football coach.

A majority of the athletic board members would prefer Shaw, the story stated, if he will leave the Pacific Coast school where in four years his teams have won twenty-nine victories, lost four games and tied one.

Buffet Supper Opens Panhellenic Activities

Officers, Deans, Faculty Wives, Others Honor Mrs. O'Daniel

Delta Gamma, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, and Kappa Alpha Theta sororities entertained visiting Panhellenic delegates, officers, and deans of women with a buffet supper Friday night from 6 until 7 o'clock at the Theta chapter house.

Yellow candlesticks and a spring floral centerpiece were the table decorations. Yellow flowers were placed throughout the house in colorful displays.

A turkey dinner was served to 125 people.

In the receiving line were Bertha Scarborough and the presidents of the five presiding sororities: Martha Swanson, Alpha Gamma Delta; Hazel Peters, Alpha Delta Pi; Helen Ann Bernan, Alpha Epsilon Phi; Mary Louise Braselton, Delta Gamma; and Margaret Rolfe, Kappa Alpha Theta.

The housewives of four sororities served: Miss Leah Gregg, Delta Gamma; Mrs. Rose Halle, Alpha Epsilon Phi; Mrs. Lola Landry, Alpha Gamma Delta; and Mrs. C. B. Simpson, Alpha Delta Pi; and Mrs. Putnam Dickinson, Kappa Alpha Theta. Phyllis Seals of Delta Gamma also served.

Mrs. Deiny Parker Crawle, an ex-student of The University of Texas and of the University of Oklahoma, was recently elected district governor of the Alpha Phi sorority. Here for the Panhellenic conference, Mrs. Crawle, from Dallas, has charge of the Panhellenic rushing.

Mrs. Crawle will give a speech on rushing Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock in Texas Union 315. The keynote of the speech, she said, will be that rushing is a democratic institution.

Having arrived yesterday, she plans to stay at the Alpha Phi house until Sunday, when she will return to Dallas. Mrs. Crawle has just returned from the national headquarters of the sorority in Detroit.

Mrs. Richard B. Rutledge, who is the national councilor for the western section of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, has been the guest of the Austin chapter since last Monday. While here she has attended both a pledge and a chapter meeting and has had an individual conference with each girl.

Mrs. Rutledge, who will address the Panhellenic Conference in the Texas Union Saturday morning, will leave Sunday for her home in Tulsa.

Miss Fern Babecek, Southwest regional secretary of the Student Christian Association from Kansas City, Mo., will be in Austin from February 10 to February 15. She will visit representatives of the Student Christian Association in and around Austin.

"The Tools of Pharmacy" was the topic of J. F. Badgett's talk Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the meeting of the University of Texas Pharmaceutical Association in Chemistry Building 218. Mr. Badgett is a representative of the Merck Drug Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement John Howard announce the marriage of their daughter, Kathleen Marie, to Norman Laird McNeil on February 7 at the First Presbyterian Church, Corpus Christi.

The bride graduated from the University in 1940 with a B.B.A. degree. McNeil obtained a B.B.A. degree with honors, graduating in 1937.

Business Machines Shown in Waggoner

An exhibit of twenty-seven business machines is being shown this week in Waggoner Hall 116, with lectures conducted by R. W. Macdonald of the education division of the Burroughs Adding Machine Company.

Demonstrations and lectures are given from 8 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon Saturday. Arrangements were made by Dr. C. Aubrey Smith, professor of accounting, and Dr. J. A. White, professor of business administration.

Religious Philosophy" was discussed by twenty-five students at a round table discussion at the University Y.M.C.A. Friday afternoon. This was the first in a series of round table discussions that will be held every Friday for the next six weeks. Dinner will be served to the participants. Dorothy Nan Harrison is chairman of the group.

The Association of Childhood Education entertained its members with a Valentine party in the club room of the Women's Gym Thursday night. Members amused themselves by making valentines and participating in games. A short business meeting was also held. Arrangements for the party were made by Gene Jee, vice-president of the club.

University students and faculty wives were among those assisting at the tea honoring Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel, the wives of the Forty-seventh Legislature, and wives of other state officials, given by the University Ladies Club in the Junior Ballroom of Texas Union.

The center-piece, an arrangement of spring flowers in pastel shades, was a gift from Mrs. Homer Price Rainey. Other appointments of the tea table included silver service and silver candelabra with pale green tapers.

Those serving during the first hour were as follows:

Marian Reid Regina Brelsford

House Adopts Limit for Lease-Lend Bill

The House of Representatives Friday night adopted a sharp limitation on the extent to which, under the Lease-Lend Bill, President Roosevelt may transfer to other nations American military and naval equipment which is already on hand or appropriated for. The limit fixed was one tenth of total appropriations for defense for the fiscal year 1941.

Bulgars, Fearing Nazis, Restrict Train Service

Amid widespread reports that the German army was planning to enter Bulgaria, the Sofia government Friday night ordered a new restriction of train service. Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff was understood to have told parliament members at a private meeting that he could not say "what may lie in the future."

Italians Retreat from Bengasi in Disorder

The Italian army in Africa Friday night was falling back from Bengasi in costly disorder as British forces stormed through and beyond that important military and naval center, carrying their offensive into Central Libya.

R.A.F. Concentrates on Boulogne

Braving a heavy mist over the English Channel Friday night, Royal Air Force bombers caught the Germans off guard and dumped heavy caliber explosives for two hours on the German-held coast of France. The R.A.F. seemed to concentrate on Boulogne, across the channel from Dover.

Nazi Recruit Italian Workers

ROME, Feb. 7.—(INS)—Negotiations for dispatch of 50,000 Italian industrial workers to Germany were concluded Friday. The workers will be recruited from all sections of the country. It is anticipated that a total of 250,000 Italian workers will be sent to the Reich eventually.

PAGE FOUR SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1941

We Spend Only $217 Per Student

ONLY $438 PER student last year—that is the lament of University of California officials in a recent news release received here.

This "low per student support" compared to that of "ten other leading universities of the East and Middle West" is enough to make the legislature consider granting the institution's request for a $18,168,817.94 for the next biennium, the release quotes the school comptroller as saying.

This proposed budget is an increase of $1,520,663.94 over the present two-year budget.

University of California officials griping about this allegedly inadequate appropriation for their school would probably keel over and die if they studied the budget recommendations which the Board of Control last week turned out for The University of Texas.

At the most, even if greatly expanded appropriations are approved for the School of Medicine at Galveston, the University would receive from the state only $10,707,750 in the next two years beginning September 1. If the suggested increase for the medical branch is ignored and the budget for the past two years continued, that total will be reduced by at least $4,000,000. Other reductions—just as other increases—are of course possible.

There may, it is true, be an excuse for the California institution to expect much larger appropriations than this school, because it has two separate extensive branches to support.

But the difference in per student figures is certainly a question mark. Last year the Main University here spent $217 on each student, not even 50 per cent of what the California contemporary complains is not enough. Even should The University of Texas appropriations be increased in accordance with the Board of Control recommendations, the per-student expenditures at this main branch would not be raised too materially.

The University of California longs for the day when it could spend $570 on every student. The high for The University of Texas was $280 in 1920-21.

All of these figures and facts seem to indicate that someone is lying or that someone is holding out on someone else.

The situation in both institutions is substantially the same. State appropriations count for about two-thirds of the schools' support, the other third coming from student fees, endowments, gifts, and other similar sources. Possible differences in enrollment can be modified by the increased total appropriations, which it is conceded above, may be in proportion to the enrollment here. Surely the University of California has not the supposedly available wealth of this school.

The California comparison only brings to mind several similar ones that may be made with other state schools.

While The University of Texas, with its 11,078 students in 1939-40 was spending $3,443,647, the University of Michigan with twelve thousand students was spending $9,396,029, the University of Minnesota, with seventeen thousand students, was spending $8,299,468.

Some of these institutions are included in the "ten leading universities" of which the California release speaks. If The University of California, with its $438 per student does not think that it is able on that amount to give its students as good education and facilities as other leading schools—

Just how well can the State or University of Texas officials expect this institution to measure up to similar schools if we can spend only $217 per student?

Talking Out Loud

DEAR Editor: May I congratulate the Texan on its editorial of January 30, called "A Suggestion to the House." Most of us wouldn't have thought to question the meaning of "expound," so I admire the wide-awakeness of the Texan, the interest which caused it to be looked up, and the way in which the message was stated.

The Texan might also make a suggestion to Representative J. P. Stubbs to the effect that the State's financial condition is bad enough now without spending more money to paint school buses red, white, and blue. Most of them have been pretty safe with their orange color for a number of years.

University Choir To Give Concert

Sunday Program Features Baromeo

The University Choir of more than fifty students, directed by Archie N. Jones and including all students whose major study is voice, accompanied by the University Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Homer Ulrich, will be presented in the Department of Music Faculty Concert in Hogz Auditorium at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Chase Baromeo and Miss Margaret Corbin, members of the Department of Music faculty, and Mary Jane Maricle and Mrs. Harriet Wood Faulk, students, will be soloists.

Mr. Baromeo will sing the solo part in "Ballad for Americans," a modern cantata by Earl Robinson, which was introduced by Paul Robeson. "Ballad for Americans" is based on four high spots in our national history; the American Revolution, Growth of the Union, Civil War, and the Machine Age.

"Music at Night," included in the program, is by Bernard Fitzgerald, a University College of Fine Arts faculty member.

The complete program follows:

- I. Gallia Gounod
- Mazurka Corbin, soloist
- II. Gloria Patri Palestrina
- Emmitte Spiritum Tuum Schnekstky
- Lullaby on Christmas Eve Christiansen
- Mary Jane Maricle, soloist
- Beautiful Savior Christiansen
- Harriet Wood Faulk, soloist
- III. Jesu Priceless Treasure Bach
- Salvation is Created Tachenkoff
- Music at Night Bernard Fitzgerald
- Penny Good Room Spiritual arr. Smith
- Ride the Chariot Spiritual arr. Smith
- IV. Ballad for Americans Earl Robinson

Book Exchange

the original owner would have received $1.25 (or 50 per cent of the cost price) from a regular book store.

Thus, theoretically, the seller netted 20 cents by trading through the exchange.

What Hanson may see fit to point out to the Assembly, though, is that as a business venture the exchange could be termed a losing proposition.

Gross profits were $40.55; approximate expenditures, $30; approximate net profit, $10. Expenses do not include, however, about five hundred hours which Hanson says members of Alpha Phi Omega and Orange Jackets put in on the project.

Figured on the basis of 35 cents an hour, the minimum wage paid clerks and salesmen at the book stores, wages of these workers would have amounted to $175.

Thus, with $10 profits available for possible future operation of the exchange, the question is left up to the Assembly as to whether the project shall be continued.

If volunteer help can always be assured, the Assembly evidently can count on the exchange to show a profit as it did this time. If clerks had to be hired, chances of the enterprise to show a profit would be seriously doubtful unless the amount of business was increased.

Bogart Plays Bad Man Again In Successful Gangster Show

"High Sierra," the novel by Whit Burnett which ran as a serial in one of the national magazines, is a fast, compact story with a lot of the old smasher in it. Which led Warner Brothers, no doubt, to film it in preference to the news-angle pictures of which they are so fond. For this is the story of an era; the era of lawlessness which came in with prohibition and ended with rise of better times in 1935 or better.

"HIGH SIERRA"—At the State from a novel by Whit Burnett. Screen play by John Huston and W. R. Burnett. Photography by Tony Gaudio. Directed by Raoul Walsh. Jack L. Warner in charge of production. Released by Warner Brothers. The cast follows:
Marie — Ida Lupino
Roy Earle — Humphrey Bogart
John L. — Alan Curtis
Red — Arthur Kennedy
Velma — Joan Leslie

Mr. Burnett, who edits the arty short story magazine called "Story" (known to English 341 students and others as a 40 cent deal), writes his own stories also. "Little Caesar," that stirring gangster picture which made Edward G. Robinson famous, was one of his creations. "High Sierra" has just as much life and punch to it as "Little Caesar" had.

The stars are the same people you have seen in other gangster movies. Ida Lupino, considered a top-flight actress since she went crazy in "They Drive by Night," is the girl who casts down her eyes when another character uses the phrase, "Oh, she's a decent girl." Mr. Bogart has been a villain for so long he needs no other introduction. Like most of the Burnett characters, Mad Dog Earle has a good streak in him. His business just happens to be sticking up banks and if anybody gets knocked off in the process it is considered all in a day's work. Earle pats dogs on the head and that, according to the general theory, indicates a soft heart.

There is a strong supporting cast of Henry Hull, Henry Travers, and Joan Leslie. Gangster pictures have already reached their peak and gone on. This might be called a summary of all the good gangster pictures ever made. And the sympathetic treatment given it by Whit Burnett makes it much better than the average type.

—JACK DOLPH.

Is There A Fascinator In Your Closet?

The Austin Little Theater needs fascinators.

Moderns who see visions of Hedy Lamarr in an Austin play after hearing this statement are due for a disappointment. Mrs. Dalton Richardson, publicity director for the next Little Theater production, explains that these fascinators are knitted shawls which were worn over the head in the 1890's and are similar to the scarves worn today.

Mrs. Arthur Fehr, director of costumes for the play, reports a need for derby hats and other clothing of the 1890's beside fascinators. The period clothing is to be used in "Gold in the Hills" or "The Dead Sister's Secret," a melodrama which the organization will present February 13, 14, and 15 at Saengerunde Hall.

Apparel needed includes long dresses with full skirts, small waists and high collars; and frock coats, Prince Albert coats, and vividly colored vests.

Three Organists In Recital Monday

A program of organ music will be presented by the Diapason Club at 8 o'clock Monday night at All Saints' Episcopal Church. This is the third of a series of recitals, complimentary to the public, sponsored by the Club this season.

Organists who will take part are Emma Virginia Decherd, Eleanor Claire Anthony, and Wilson Nolle.

Miss Decherd is organist at All Saints' Church and director of the Girls' Glee Club of Allen Junior High School.

Miss Anthony is now a student in the Department of Music, majoring in organ. She is assistant organist at University Methodist Church.

Mr. Nolle is a graduate student in the Department of Physics and is studying organ with Cochrane Penick.

The program is as follows:
Prelude in A major — Bach
Prelude in C major — Bach
Antiphon, No. II — Dupre
Chorale in A minor — Cesare Franck
Miss Anthony
Concerto in G minor — Camidge
